Jai Industries

1. We request you to please give us an overview of the main product categories which you will display at Delhiwood 2013. Can you specifically mention some innovative technology or product which will be exhibited?

Jai Industries is bringing many a major machineries from all of its four ranges; namely – WudPro, Modula including Pride Of India , SCM and Turanlar on display at DelhiWood 2013 (Lower Level -Hall No 3, Stall No.A102).

Jai is constantly innovating on machineries and exploring ways to reach-out to customers, provide value added services and make the whole experience of dealing with Jai fully satisfactory for them. In this exhibition also, apart from regular panel processing machines like panel saw, double head multi boring, spindle moulder, post form, roller press, vacuum membrane press, CNC router, wide belt sander & sold wood working machines, we will be exhibiting some new machine models such as low cost manual edge bander from Jai-Modula range, auto edge banders from Jai-SCM range & throughfeed soft form from Jai-Turanlar range.

2. Where do you see the Indian woodworking industry after 10 years?

In wood working Industry, 21st century has shown us that solid wood has become very expensive and time consuming while working. So now the consumers will opt more and more on Modular furniture. We foresee a real good growth in our Panel Processing machines. All innovations and technological advancements are happening there. Industry is looking towards Modular furniture. They require good quality machines at reasonable cost backed by reliable after sales services.

JAI proves to be a great helping hand in this endeavor of new markets. But these new ventures require huge capital investments in machines; they also require funds for land, building and raw material. Pride of India range from Jai-Modula has proved to be a boon for such up-coming customers who aim to move forward with reasonable budgets and keep adding to their strength in gradual manner.

We are aiming to make JAI the best and biggest brand available in India through our core strength, "value-for-money products with value-added services". For this goal we are expanding our 'Pride of India' range of Panel Process machines to provide solution to the Industry and be a growth engine to this Industry. As India grows, JAI grows along with it.
